VIS REDDY MOVES INTO SRK HOT SEAT

SRK Consulting (SA), the African arm of the global consulting engineering firm, has appointed principal scientist Vis Reddy as managing director.

He says his focus as MD will be to continue the engineering and environmental services company’s expansion into a range of other sectors where the business now has considerable involvement.

Reddy says SRK’s work in the public sector is an important growth area, including infrastructure services such as stormwater management, water supply, water reticulation, flood-risk assessments and disaster management.

“Working with government at national and regional level has also been an exciting area for us, and one which we intend to expand,” he says. “This includes policy and planning work, and extends from mining, infrastructure and water issues to environmental projects like bio-regional plans that help conserve biological diversity and inform development plans.”
